

35141 response

Whether the site has been formally designated as Contaminated Land under Part 2A of the Environmental Protection Act (1990)? And if not, can you tell me if the site is intended for investigation under the Contaminated Land regime for potential future designation?

The site of interest has not been identified as contaminated land in terms of Part IIA of the Environmental Protection Act 1990 and has not been prioritised for inspection under that regime.

Any other pertinent contamination / pollution / environmental information you may hold in relation to the site?

No information is held concerning contamination or pollution incidents on the site of interest. No reports are held relating to site investigations for this land. This location however is within the Central Edinburgh Air Quality Management Area.