How much did it cost you to commission the slavery legacy review?

There was no commissioning cost for the independent Edinburgh Slavery and Colonialism Legacy Review.

Breakdown of the costs?

To date, £17,298.24 has been spent on the Review. This includes promotional materials and paid digital communications about the online public consultation which took place 27 October 2021 - 19 January 2022 at £6,673.24. £10,000 has been spent on a community-focussed consultation workshop series with target groups. £625 has been spent on out of pocket expenses for Review Group Members.

What have you budgeted to carry on the work?

No forward spend has been agreed or allocated. This will be dependent on which, if any, recommendations proposed by the Review Group are taken forward by the Council.
