Broken down by year, from 2017 to 2022, what amount of training in CPR has been provided for children in Edinburgh council authority high schools.

Unfortunately, we are not able to provide the information you requested. There is no requirement under the curriculum to provide CPR training and schools are not required to record it. We did, however, send a questionnaire to each school to see what information they might hold. This information is provided below. For consistency, we have collated the responses into a yes/no or no record.
