Third party personal information has been redacted from the documents provided in compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Due to the method of saving some of the correspondence, where an image or logo appears in the header or footer of the e-mail, this is automatically removed and shows as an attachment. Where an e-mail includes an attachment, other than a header or footer image, this is provided.

In addition to the attached correspondence, we hold an amount of information which is held in relation to on-going live insurance claims and therefore cannot be provided.

This is withheld under Regulation 10(5)(b) that applies to the "course of justice".
