Under the terms of the Act, a request for information can be refused where one or more exemptions listed in the legislation apply. Where information has been withheld, the Council is applying the following exemptions to the information that you have requested:

Information is held which provides details of site arrangements and security measures. The Council cannot disclose information about an event without prejudicing its ability to be able to hold open discussions with stakeholders and thereby prejudicing the success of this event and any future events. Releasing this information may deter other organisers from coming to Edinburgh and would jeopardise the reputation of the Council or any third parties we are working with.

Information is held which contains sensitive commercial information. By releasing this information into the public domain, it could prejudice the success of this event and any future events. The potential release of information would jeopardise a third party's commercial interests and would therefore constrain the city's ability to attract and facilitate events in the city.
