

60597 Desk Study Collinton Road Edinburgh

(Grid Ref 322408,669744)

Does the Council have any records of historical site investigations undertaken within the site boundary?

No record of historical site investigation associated with the site is identified.

Any records of historical mining, private water abstractions or fuel storage tanks would be very helpful as well.

The site is not located in a Mining Remediation Authority (former Coal Authority) Consultation Area of the City of Edinburgh according to current records and is therefore considered unlikely to be affected by historical mining in terms of current use or future redevelopment.

The Mining Remediation Authority provides online map viewer tools that provide information on mining and may also be consulted to confirm absence of historical mining features in proximity to this site.

Private Water Abstractions:

There is no record of private water abstraction or supply in proximity to the site. SEPA licence and register water abstractions through Environmental Authorisations (Scotland) Regulations and may be contacted to verify absence of water abstractions in proximity to this site.

Fuel Tanks:

The following comment has been received from the Licensing section (petroleum tanks) in Regulatory Services:

‘We have searched through the records for both current and derelict petroleum stores based on the information that you have provided to the Department. Unfortunately, I have been unable to locate any information in the zone on the map at Colinton Road, Edinburgh with regard to current or derelict petroleum tanks’.