

60702 Archive Records

I understand records or archive material for Cranley School were held at City Chambers. I believe it was moved to accommodate some renovations. Can you advise where the records are and can they be viewed by the public?

It is not a specific person's records I am interested in but general pictures and information etc. for my own personal interest.

I can confirm that records of Cranley School are held by Edinburgh City Archives (Accession 891). They are stored at our offsite facility at Murrayburn, and records can be transported to the City Chambers for viewing.

Some records in this collection (class lists, photographs, etc.) are not available for public viewing as they are under 100 years old. This is due to data protection of the children mentioned in the records.

To book a space at the Archive's Search Room, please follow the link below:

<https://www.edinburgh.gov.uk/managing-information/edinburgh-city-archives-1/4>