

62839 Planning Applications

The total number of planning applications submitted for residential home extensions.

1,196.

The total number of planning applications for residential home extensions that were approved.

1,075.

The total number of planning applications for residential home extensions that were refused.

26.

Where available, a breakdown of applications and refusals by extension type, including:

Rear extensions

Side extensions

Front extensions

Two-storey extensions

Loft conversions

Conservatories

Other residential extensions

Planning applications are displayed publicly on the planning portal. The attached document lists all home extensions in the requested timeframe; column C would provide relevant information which can then be cross-referenced against the planning portal.

Where available, the five most common reasons cited for refusal of residential extension applications during the period.

This is available on the planning portal in the 'Report of Handling' for each application.

You may be interested in Scottish Government statistics which monitor all planning applications nationally.