

64382 Phase 1 Desk Study - West Pilton Park, Edinburgh, EH4 4BZ

I am in the process of compiling a Phase 1 Desk Study for the site at West Pilton Park, Edinburgh, EH4 4BZ.

Does the Council have any records of historical site investigations undertaken within the site boundary?

Any records of historical mining, private water abstractions or fuel storage tanks would be very helpful as well.

Historical Site Investigations within site boundary

There are no identified records of historical site investigations within the site boundary or immediate surrounding area.

Private Water Supplies

No registered private water supplies are located within or nearby proximity to the site.

Historical Coal Mining

The northern boundary and segment of the site is marginally located within a former Coal Authority consultation area, which extends across the north and northeast coastal area of Edinburgh where there may have been historical mining. No further information is available.

The Mining Remediation Authority provides online search and map search tools that can confirm if the site is in a former coal mining affected area and Development Low or High-Risk Area for consideration of planning applications. Further information may be obtained from the Mining Remediation Authority page of the UK government's website.

Fuel Tanks

We have searched through the records for both current and derelict petroleum stores based on the information that you have provided to the Department. Unfortunately, I have been unable to locate any information in the zone marked on the map at West Pilton Park, Edinburgh regarding the current or derelict petroleum tanks.
