

64766 Planning Applications

From the last six Development Management sub-committee meetings (the most recent being September 2, 2026), please provide the following information:

How many questions regarding a planning application, from members, could be described as a 'design suggestion' or a 'design concern'?

This information is not separately recorded; however, webcasts are available to view for all Development Management Sub-Committee meetings. Please refer to the Webcast library published on our website at:

<https://edinburgh.public-i.tv/core/portal/webcasts>

From that number, how many became a condition of approval?

As above, this information is not separately recorded but can be obtained from the Webcasts.

From the net figure (the total minus those that translated to a condition of approval) how many involved planning officials discussing the 'suggestion / concern' with the planning applicant?

No discussions are held with applicants during the consideration of an item at committee.

And how many of that above-mentioned 'net figure' ended in a material change to the content of the application and, thereafter, a change in the actual build?

Not applicable. Given that the schemes have only been considered over the last six meetings, no construction of these developments will have taken place.
